A Case Report of Cosmetic Misuse

A 27 years old woman shaved her face at 3 days before she went skiing. And she massaged and packed her face every day before and while skiing. She felt itching and burning at the first night in skiing, but she thought it should be sun burning and continued the massage and pack.

When she came back to her home after 3 days skiing, her face was swollen with burning and pain.

We diagnosed her condition as irritant contact dermatitis caused by cosmetic misuse, and ordered her not to use cosmetics, massage and pack. Her condition healed in a few days and the results of cosmetic closed patch testing were all negative.
